Drama Disrupted by a Gunshot

Mantoe, N. C., July 9 —(UP)—The actor stood on the stage of the outdoor theater here and pointed toward the sky.

At that moment a stagehand was supposed to fire a Very pistol over the audience, bringing a realistic touch to the annual presentation of "The Lost Colony" historical pageant.

But the signal flare failed to go up on cue and the audience littered while the embarrassed player lamely finished his dramatic lines.

Publicist Aycock Brown, who was sitting out front, dashed backstage to see what was wrong. He found the theater Manager Al Bell using the Very pistol to cover two escaped convicts who had tried to hide in the dressing rooms.

Bell captured Willie Taylor 38, and Harold Pace, 24 a few hours after they fled from a prisoners' baseball game played on Roanoke Island. A posse of officers had been trying to trail them with bloodhounds.

Bell and Brown marched the fugitives to the front of the theater and turned them over to highway patrolmen.

This ended the manhunt and the show went on.

Even in summer, when the living is easy, this young woman avoids declaring an off-season on beauty. Elaborate make-up and hair-care routines are shelved until fall, but quick and easy essentials are retained. Casual, outdoor girl gives her lashes a last-minute up-sweep before joining her date for tennis (left). Good-looking aids are her colorful sunback dress and her carefree but attractive hair-do, which requires only a quick whisk with a brush to arrange (right). Although terrace suppers replace indoor dinners, she is careful to look her best despite informality of occasion (center).

DOROTHY DIX Unreasonable View

Dear Miss Dix: We have a daughter of 20 who has had two years in college. She is engaged to a nice young man, but it will be at least two or three years before he can afford to marry. We are anxious for our daughter to finish her college course, or take a business course, but her fiancé strongly objects to her doing either one, as he says he will never consent to his wife working after they are married. That is all right, but my husband and I both think that every girl should be taught some way of making a living, whether she follows it or not after marriage. Is it fair for the young man to take the position he does, and should my daughter give in to him?

A MOTHER Answer: The young man is very unreasonable in the position he takes. A trade or profession is the best protection a girl can have against the rainy day that possibly may come to anyone.

It is hard to see how anyone can be so narrow and bigoted and prejudiced as to fail to see the wisdom of this. Who is so helpless as the girl who has not been taught any gainful occupation, who has no business experience, and who finds it impossible to compete with women who are expert in some line of work? You would think that any man in the world would be glad to know that his wife could stand on her own feet and support herself if the necessity arose.

It is a fine thing for a man to want to support his family and stand between his wife and the world and keep her soft within the circle of the home. It is the way things should be, because being a good wife and mother and a good housekeeper and manager is the woman's end of a marriage, and it involves all the work that any one woman should be expected to do. Besides, it leaves the job open for unmarried women. Even if the wife never has to use her knowledge, it gives her poise and self-respect to know that she could make a living if she had to.

Your daughter will be very foolish if she gives in to her young man's silly objection to her taking a business course. It will give her something to do to fill her time while she is waiting for him, instead of sitting at home and sucking her thumb. And it will give her something to fall back on if he falls out of love with her, or if she loses her taste for him. A lot of things can happen to young people in two years that change all of their plans.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am entrusted with the sending of cards (Get Well, Sympathy, Anniversary, etc.) for a club. I'd like to know if it is good taste to write a message on the inside of these cards.

It has been my custom to sign the name of the club below the envelope, then write a little message or appropriate poem inside the card. When a member is ill or hospitalized, I send a gift, such as a hankie, with the card and message. I have been told that this is wrong, and I should use a separate sheet of paper for the extra message.

KATHRYN Answer: Not only is your idea in good taste, but it is a very courteous and gracious gesture to write an additional message on printed greeting cards. The warmth of your own words enhances the value of the printed poem and will certainly be more appreciated by the recipient than a plain signature. The road to friendship is paved with just such thoughtfulness; one who has softened pain or sorrow with a personal blessing or added a cheery note to the jubiliations of an anniversary is not soon forgotten.

Dear Miss Dix: I am 26 years of

The association adopted a resolution opposing a rollback in beef prices.

Indo China May Be Next on Russian List

Washington July 9 —(AP)—State department officials reportedly are deeply concerned over the possibility that a Korean armistice might be followed by a shift of Communist aggression southward to Indochina.

American government reports, qualified informants said today, bear out a Chinese Nationalist estimate that some 200,000 Red Chinese troops already are assembled near the Indochina border. A signal from Peking could send them across the line to reinforce rebel leader Ho Chi Minh's 150,000 or more Indochinese guerrillas either as "volunteers" or openly as invaders.

Indochina was under the threat before, but the shadow lifted from the start of the Korean fighting.

Since then Communist Chinese aid to Ho Chi Minh has been limited to arms, supplies and advisers. That has not been enough to break through the resistance of the French and Vietnamese defenders reinforced by a continuing flow of American arms.

The estimate of 200,000 Communist troops near the Indochinese frontier came from Nationalist China's defense ministry. A Tientsin announcement last week said those forces were massed along the borders of the provinces of Kwangtung, Kwangsi and Yunnan with the purpose of helping Moscow-trained Ho "spread aggressive war in southeast Asia."

American officials point out that the Red Chinese troops in the south also are in convenient position for possible attacks on Formosa and Hong Kong, or may be there only to hold in check local anti-Communist elements.

Officials said, however, there are definite chances of Chinese intervention in Indochina and that worry is deepened by the belief that an attempt to conquer southeast Asia is part of the long range policies of both Moscow and Peking.

Indochina is continuing to receive arms from the U. S. as long as Communist China remains on the sidelines, responsible officials say they believe the rebel forces can be held. However, if Red China should intervene on a big scale "another Korea is feared."

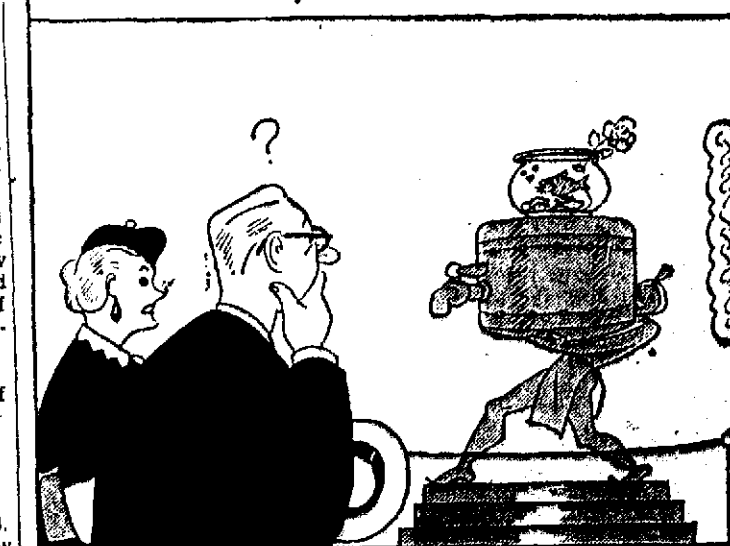

Jonesboro Man Jailed by FBI

Richmond Va., July 9 —(AP)—A Jonesboro Ark. man wanted in three states for violating federal impersonation statutes has been arrested by the federal bureau of investigation.

The FBI identified the man as George Wesley Hamilton, 29, a former air force enlisted man. FBI agents said he was wearing the uniform of an air force lieutenant colonel when arrested.

The bureau said warrants for Hamilton's arrest on similar charges have been issued in Springfield Ill., Memphis and Little Rock.

Minneapolis Strikers May Not Be Rehired

Minneapolis Minn., July 9 (AP)—Striking hospital service workers were under orders today to return to their jobs at ten hospitals, said they would not rehire some of the strikers.

District Judge D. E. LaBelle signed a temporary order Saturday calling on local 113 of the AFL building service employees union to halt picketing at the hospitals. Although the court did not instruct them to do so, union officials told the 800 strikers to report for work.

The walkout began a little less than two weeks ago but the union did not sanction it as a strike until July 5. Some of the hospitals take the position that workers who left before July 5 did so illegally and no longer have claim to their jobs.

Swedish, Abbott, Fairview and Northwestern hospitals have said they will not rehire — at least for the present — those workers who left prior to July 5.

Samuel Sigal attorney for the union, stated that if the workers are not rehired, the union would consider the action an unfair labor practice and that the matter would be taken to court.

Since the walkout started many of the hospitals have hired replacements for the strikers and volunteers have taken over some duties.

Another attempt to settle the dispute was scheduled for 3 p. m. today by a special committee appointed by Mayor Eric Hoyer.

The union has claimed the hospitals refused to abide by an arbitration award of a union ship, a week week or not more than six days with two consecutive days off, and a 15-cent an hour pay increase retroactive to May 1. Pay currently ranges from 92 1/2 cents to $1.33 an hour. Meals are provided for some workers.

Russell Ne, administrator for Northwestern, said there was no "deliberate attempt" to disregard the award. A. N. Langhaug spokesman for Fairview, said the state doesn't require arbitration on anything but maximum hours and minimum wages.

El Dorado Host to Business Leaders

El Dorado, July 9 —(AP)—Some 300 business and industrial leaders want the U. S. engineers to reconsider their decision to quit operating three locks on the Ouachita river.

At a meeting called by H. K. "Hatch" here Saturday, the group voted to send a delegation to Washington to present its case to congress.

A resolution opposing the engineers' plans said that the discontinuance would destroy river navigation; destroy the water supply to cities and industries; and affect the discharge of waste from industrial plants, thus endangering the public health.

The engineers announced earlier last week that they planned to discontinue operating locks 5, and 8 at Stirlington, La., and Pelsouth and Callan Ark.

House Speaker Is Governor Today

Hot Springs, July 9 —(AP)—James P. Campbell of Hot Springs speaker of the Arkansas house today is the state's governor.

He temporarily succeeds Sen. Ellis Fagan president "pro tempore of the state senate. Fagan temporarily succeeded Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordan, who temporarily succeeded Governor McMath—all in a week's time.

Campbell, who had decided to move his capital to Hot Springs during his term in office, yesterday announced his program.

He said he planned no major personnel changes; no special session; no new taxes.

The acting governor decided to leave interstate relations up to the Little Rock Travelers and the El Dorado Oilers both hosts of all-star games this week.

Reactions with Texas were delegated to the University of Arkansas and Raabacks, along with a reminder that "Texans put on their pants just like anyone else."

Campbell said he thought everything would work out nicely. "Mr. Math Borden and Fagan may the mistake of returning to the state before I get a chance to carry out my program."

The round robin of governors began last week when Governor McMath went on vacation, and Fagan and Gordan decided to visit Washington.

Cain Drafts MacArthur's Plan in Korea

Washington July -- (AP) -- Senator Cain (R-Wash.) rushed work today on the preliminary draft of a proposed report declaring Gen. Douglas MacArthur has set forth "the only positive program" for winning the Korean war.

Cain described the draft as his "personal product," and said he does not expect majority support for it in the two senate committees which conducted an eight-week inquiry into the firing of MacArthur by President Truman.

He said he is representing "six or seven" Republican members of the committee on a tentative basis in preparing the document.

Cain told a reporter he hopes to put copies of the draft in the hands of those members and perhaps some Democrats during the day. The work is being hurried, he added, because some members of the same group are leaving tomorrow for Europe to inspect military and economic aid projects there.

The report Cain is drafting probably won't be in final form for some time.

The MacArthur investigation covered Far Eastern policy generally as well as specifically the dismissal of the five star general from his Pacific command.

It was carried on by the senate armed services and foreign relations committees.

So far the inquiry panel as a whole has not decided whether to make a formal report. With nine of 13 members of the foreign relations committee going to Europe the prospects for any firm decision until late this month appear slim.

Senator Russell (D-Ga.) chairman of the investigation group, said he has set no date for a meeting to discuss a report. He recently declared he had found "surprising sentiment" in the joint committee against a formal report.

Cain made it clear during the inquiry that he favored the Korean war program which led to the dismissal of MacArthur when the general advocated it publicly.

It called for bombing Manchuria supply bases, a blockade of the China coast, and use of the Formosa-based Chinese Nationalist forces.

The administration has contended that MacArthur's program might start World War III by bringing Russia into the conflict.

MacArthur has said that wouldn't necessarily happen.

Britishers to Brief Sugar Ray

London July 9 -- (AP) -- Sugar Ray Robinson, who has had two forgetful of brushes with European "foul" rules in the last year, will be given a private briefing on British boxing regulations before stepping into the ring tomorrow night to defend his world middleweight crown against Randolph Turpin.

It was learned that sometime before the start of the 15-round bout Robinson will get a full explanation of the "foul" clauses in British rules.

"We feel that it would be highly unfair to everyone if an unintentional foul occurred," a source close to the British Boxing commission said.

Robinson's first run-in with European "foul" rules was in December. Luc Van Dam of Holland claimed the blow from the champion that knocked him out in Brussels was low and around the kidneys.

And in Berlin two weeks ago, Robinson was disqualified in the ring when the referee claimed his knockout of Gorbard Hecht was made via a kidney punch. This was rubbed out hours later by the West Berlin Boxing commission which labeled the contest "no decision."

REAL CHOW HOUND--The enemy would think twice about trying to take over these food supplies while "Chow" the German shepherd of the 26th Infantry Scout Dog Platoon, is on guard. Orrin takes a personal interest in it because it's all horsemeat, strictly for the canine fighters. Pic. Larry Pollard, of Detroit, shows guard duty with the war dog. VICTIMS OF THE HLC--Frankie Russell, 14-year-old Boston, Mass., newsboy, and his 125-pound St. Bernard dog were parted by the high cost of food. Frankie found the dog recently and brought it home as a pet. After his mother watched the dog gobble up five cans of dog food with no effort at all, she decreed he had to go. Here the St. Bernard tries to console heartbroken Frankie.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By TED SMITS (For Hugh Fullerton, Jr.)

Detroit, July 9 -- (AP) -- "Where," asked Hank Greenberg with an earnest look on his face, "would we play Orestes Minofo if we had him?"

The implication of course was that the American league's long-lost hitter, selected for the ill-starred team, was not quite good enough to make the Cleveland club.

"I wouldn't take out Al Rosen for Minofo," said Greenberg, "and I'm perfectly satisfied with Lou Brissie."

Thus Hank, the onetime Detroit tiger slinger, now president of the Cleveland Indians, diagnosed the year's most famous trade that sent Minofo from Cleveland to the Chicago White Sox and brought Brissie the big left-handed pitcher, from Philadelphia to Cleveland, in addition to disbanding numerous players.

Minofo is supposed to be a third baseman isn't he," asked Hank, with never a trace of a smile. "Well I'd rather have Rosen."

Rosen is hitting almost 100 percentage points under his Minofo did not make the all-star game but let it be said of him he's a hustler. He was out on the field after a game with the Detroit Tigers trying to work on his batting until the groundkeepers drove him away.

The White Sox, however, haven't decided where to play Minofo. He's seen more action in the outfield than at third.

Cleveland after a wobbly start, is going to be a two team race -- Cleveland, Boston, New York, Chicago and Detroit. It will be tight right up to the wire.

"We were hurt when Luke Easter was injured at the start of the season. He's just getting back into shape. If you count just the games in which Easter has played for us we would be leading the league by ten games. That's how much difference one man can make to you."

I consider the Cleveland pitching staff the best in the league. It is all going to depend on what team gets in a winning streak. I'm perfectly content with our club. It's a young team, and it is just beginning to click. We don't have the depth of the Yankees but we have quality."

"You know some of the boys around the league that are hitting .350 aren't really that kind of hitters," (maybe he meant Minofo). "On the other hand some of our boys who are hitting .220 aren't."

Six Die as Wind, Hail Hit Midwest

By The Associated Press

Wind-whipped rain and hail hit the Midwest Sunday, causing six deaths and heavy property damage.

Severe storms hit parts of Iowa, Minnesota, Michigan, Missouri and Kansas but in Wisconsin practically the whole state felt the blows of wild weather.

Five deaths occurred in Michigan. In Wisconsin winds, lightning, rain and hail caused damage expected to exceed $100,000. Winds of hurricane intensity downed power lines ripped roofs off of buildings and blocked roads with felled trees.

In Iowa, communities in the northern part of the state were hit by a series of hard rains and high winds. Many farm buildings were damaged and power and telephone lines were out.

At Leavenworth, Kas., a heavy downpour sent Five-Mile creek out of its banks and flooded many homes. A windstorm disrupted communications and four minor fires were started by short circuits at Emporia.

Heavy rain and hail covered an area northwest of Kansas City. The Missouri river fell after cresting at Lexington Mo., but it is expected to crest at various points farther south in the state later this week.

Illinois also had a taste of the wind and rain. Six inches of rain fell in Sterling, in northwestern Illinois. Telephone service in several communities in Lake County was disrupted and power lines were down in some cities.

Heavy showers and thunderstorms stretched along a 150 mile wide band from northeastern Iowa to northern Ohio. There were showers in Montana and widely scattered sections of western Kansas.

Heavy showers and thunderstorms stretched along a 150 mile wide band from northeastern Iowa to northern Ohio. There were showers in Montana and widely scattered sections of western Kansas.

Hot and humid weather prevailed from the gulf states to New England and it was hot and dry in the southwest.

El Paso, Texas, had a record high temperature of 107 degrees Sunday. Early morning temperatures today included St. Louis 78 Chicago 5, New York 70, Los Angeles 3.

Attack Is Planned on Segregation

Pine Bluff, July 9 — (AP) — An attack is being planned against racial segregation in Arkansas' elementary public schools.

Harold Flowers, Pine Bluff Negro attorney, announced Saturday that he planned to file suit in federal court against five counties charging that their separate educational facilities were not equal.

He said the suits would be filed against Union, Jefferson, St. Francis, Conway and Cleveland counties.

"We intend to break segregation in the public schools (of Arkansas)," said Flowers. "The tax burden is so great at the present time that it is impossible to maintain equal separate facilities."

The attorney said the suits also would attack segregation as a violation of the U. S. constitution. He said they would be patterned after a similar suit which was lost by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in South Carolina.

However, he hastened to add that the NAACP was not connected with the Arkansas action.

Flowers said he hoped to force the school districts to spend a greater amount of their revenue on Negro schools, adding: "In time we hope to educate the people to the fact that it will be much cheaper to support one school instead of two. We are going to hit hard and keep hitting them," he added.

Flowers said the suits would be filed before Aug. 1. He declined to list his financial supporters by name.

In an earlier Arkansas case, Federal Judge Harry J. Lemley ordered directors of the DeWitt special school district to equalize educational facilities. As a result of the decision, the two Negro schools were remodeled, new books were purchased and two teachers were added to the staff.

Fatal Beating Puzzles Police

VMCCOVER July 9 — (AP) — Police today sought a solution to the fatal beating of an oil field worker.

Ira Mitchell, 55, was lying unconscious in his yard here last night when his wife returned from a trip to Louisiana.

The victim was taken to a hospital but died on route without regaining consciousness.

Coroner T. E. Barton of Union county said Mitchell died from blows on the head by a blunt instrument, probably a piece of pipe. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of murder.

City Constable W. H. Owen said two suspects were being held for questioning, but he declined to identify them.

Other survivors include a son, Arnold of Houston Tex. and a daughter, Mrs. Lois Herrington of Snackover.

British Atom Boss Resigns His Position

London July 9 — (AP) — Britain's atom boss, Lord Portal, quit yesterday and one of the country's top scientists charged the labor government had let its atomic bomb program fall far behind Russia's.

Lord Cherwell wartime scientific adviser to Winston Churchill, told the house of lords that Portal, former head of the royal air force, quit his post because he was disappointed by red tape and lack of progress.

The government, announcing the resignation, said Portal resigned because he "has work of his own that he would like to do." His successor was not immediately announced.

Cherwell asked that the program be taken away from the ministry of supply and put under "a free organization which could move fast and tighten up security arrangements."

He said Britain had lost the benefits of its wartime atomic partnership with the United States and had fallen far behind atomic progress in the Soviet Union.

The lords voted 52-31 for Cherwell's motion.

Lord Alexander spokesman for the labor government, said the ministry of supply had not limited progress of the atomic energy program.

Lord Portal made no comment.

Too Early to Tell, Truman Warns Nation

By ED CREAGH

Washington, July 5 — (AP) — A grim-faced President Truman said last night it still is too early to tell whether the Communist mean business about calling off the war in Korea.

And even if they do, he warned in a Fourth of July address punctuated by bursting firecrackers, "we cannot ignore the danger of military outbreaks in other parts of the world."

Leading the nation's celebration of the 175th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, Mr. Truman joined Chief Justice Fred Vinson and Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson in broadcasting this message to the American people:

"We dare not relax."

Said the President:

"The greatest threat to world peace, the tremendous armed power of the Soviet Union, will still remain even if the Korean fighting stops."

"We have the hard task of increasing production and controlling inflation in order to support the strong armed forces we must have for years to come."

Vinson broadcasting from the supreme court building, declared that "the relaxing of our preparedness program — a little or more than a little — could have dire consequences."

Defense Mobilizer Wilson followed through, saying in his quarterly report to the President that the three-year defense program "must and will continue."

He said it must be bolstered with vigorous price control, price rollbacks and stiff taxes.

In his speech, the President said "it may be" that the Communists have decided to give up their aggression in Korea.

"If that is true" he said, "the road to a peaceful settlement of the Korean conflict is open."

"But we cannot yet be sure that the Communist rulers have any such intention. It is still too early to say what they have in mind."

"I hope these meetings will be successful."

"If they are not, it will be because the Communists do not really want peace."

"Meanwhile, let us keep our heads, and be vigilant and ready for whatever may come."

Groves Blamed for Failure

Washington July 9 — (AP) — Senator McMahon, Connecticut Democrat who heads the senate-house atomic energy committee blames the "fault and failure" of Lt. Gen. Leslie B. Groves for successful Soviet atom bomb espionage.

McMahon shouted in the senate yesterday that Groves admitted responsibility in 1950 testimony before the atomic energy committee, for the successes of Klaus Fuchs.

Fuchs is the British scientist who has confessed he gave atomic secrets to Russia.

Fuchs is now in a British prison. During World War II he was a leading member of the British scientific team collaborating with the U. S. in development of the super bomb.
